Texas Alliance of Energy Producers Student Membership Program

Why Join the Texas Alliance?

Education & Staying Informed

- ◆ Subscription to the Alliance's monthly news magazine, Newsline;
- ◆ Legislative briefings on state and federal issues, and their impact on the industry and the state;
- ◆ Opportunity to have industry relevant material you've written featured on the Alliance's social media platforms.

Networking Opportunities

- ◆ Invitations to TAEP events and seminars; and
- ◆ Multiple networking opportunities with the leading decision-makers in the oil patch throughout the year.

Getting Involved

- ◆ Help organize events, meetings and/or social functions for other Alliance student members at your university;
- ◆ Opportunity to be a part of the Alliance's grass-roots lobbying network and be a player in developing oil and gas policy in Washington, DC and Austin;
- ◆ Participation in the Alliance's pro-active public outreach program designed to change public attitudes toward the industry;
- ◆ Support of pro-industry candidates through the Alliance's political action program; and
- ◆ Opportunity to participate in special member delegations to Washington, DC and Austin.

Mentoring

- ◆ Alliance staff and consultants will be available to provide one-on-one guidance and mentoring to student members as needed, in addition to being available to answer any questions, provide resources and help make beneficial connections.
